Good People Good Deeds Writing Competition

The Winners

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>P5 Winners</th>
<th>Class</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Erwin Liu</td>
<td>5A</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tiffany Wong</td>
<td>5A</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hugo Lam</td>
<td>5B</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>James Law</td>
<td>5C</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lillian Lau</td>
<td>5D</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
May Likes Helping Others

May likes helping people in need. One day, she was waiting for a train at an MTR station. Suddenly, she saw a boy with a long face crying loudly. May asked him, “Why are you crying?” “I can't ... can't find my father,” he said.

May looked around, but she couldn't find his dad. So she took the boy to the staff in the station for help. She said, “This boy is lost. He can't find his dad. Can you help him?” “Of course!” replied the staff. The staff called the boy's father.

At last, his father came to meet the boy. “Thank you for your help,” said the boy's father. “You're welcome. I like helping others,” replied May proudly. I think May is kind and helpful. It is more blessed to give than to receive.
Bob likes helping others. One day, Bob was playing in a theme park. Suddenly, he found a beautiful girl who was crying. He asked, "What happened?" "I lost my grandma!" cried the girl.

Bob helped the girl look around the theme park. But they couldn’t find her grandma. She was scared. So they went to the information desk to ask for help.

Suddenly, the girl’s grandma found them. The lady thanked Bob for his help. He was happy when he saw the smiles on their faces. In the end, I learned that happiness comes from helping others.
Last Sunday, I went to Ocean Park to play games. I saw a lovely boy crying. He felt sad. I asked him patiently, 'Why do you cry?' The boy said loudly, 'I can’t find my father.'

Then I took him to find his father and comforted him. We also went to the information desk to find his father. At last, I found his father in merry-go-round because he was playing with his sister.

His father thanked me for my help. I felt happy because I could help the lovely boy.
Adam likes to help others. Last time he helped a homeless man on a raining day.

It was a rainy day, when Adam was walking along the street, he saw a homeless man. The homeless man was an old black man. He came from Africa. He was very poor because he couldn’t get a job there. He was very sad and he lived on the street.

‘It’s raining cats and dogs,’ said Adam. He had just bought some things in the supermarket. Then he saw an old man on the street.

He took the homeless man to a nearby hotel and then he gave the homeless man some food to eat. The homeless man felt very happy and said ‘thank you’ and asked Adam why he helped him because he has lived on the street for three days and only a few people helped him. ‘Just because I like to help others.’ said Adam.

One year later, the homeless man came to Adam’s home and gave him a lot of money. The homeless man had become a general manager of a company and he didn’t forget the kindness from Adam. Adam felt very happy and surprised about that.
Yesterday my mum and I went to a shopping mall. I was happy because there was a toy shop and a stationery shop.

I went to the toy shop. I ran fast. Suddenly I saw a boy running fast to the toys on the shelf too. Unluckily, he crashed into an old woman. I ran to the old woman and said, 'Are you ok?' 'Yes, thank you,' said the old woman. 'But I lost my jewellery. Can you help me?' said the old woman. 'OK!' I said.

At last, I found her jewellery on the stairs. 'Oh, thank you very much, little girl,' she said. I was very happy because I helped the old woman today!